

AFTER CHRISTMAS - COMPETITION TO AMUSE THE CHILDREN

Presents all unwrapped and festive food mainly all eaten but no snow to distract?

Keep them amused until the Schools re-open with the "Oh What a Pretty Tree" Competition.

All the details are on the Brighstone Community Website at www.brighstoneparish.org on the News and Events page.

Children, would you like to photograph, collage, paint, draw or colour a Christmas Tree (real or imaginary) on a piece of A4 paper and enter it in a competition before the end of January 5th?

Send yor entry in electronically to info@brighstoneparish.org or it can be taken to Brighstone Community Library. You can even pop it inside the green box outside the front door of 1 Wilberforce Road if you prefer, and I will get it to the Library.

Prizes, of course, for the judges favourites. Any age up to 16 may enter.

I expect most children will want to do their own thing but if they want a very basic template which can be coloured in and decorated (by the little ones) or if other ideas fail, there are some in the Library or they can be taken from the green box outside the front door of 1 Wilberforce Road...

I hope to see the Library walls plastered with cheerful tree pictures to greet the New Year.
