Developing Collective Worship (Responding to current requirements, including the new Ofsted framework)

Are you up to date with the new Ofsted guidance on SMSC and the place of collective worship within this for a Church school? Are you able to give a judgment on the quality of collective worship within your school against the new SIAMS grade descriptors? Would you be able to describe what excellent collective worship looks like within a Church school?

In response to a number of requests from headteachers, we have developed a course which will address these questions and explore creative ideas for placing outstanding collective worship at the heart of your Church school's ethos.

9.00am – 4.00pm at Old Alresford Place
on 7th October 2014.
Course fee: £60

The day will be led by Andrew Rickett, who leads our very popular courses on Spirituality. Andrew is an experienced SIAMS and Ofsted inspector. He works with Church schools across ten dioceses and advises nationally on SIAMS and spiritual development.

As part of the day, we will have the opportunity to hear from Tim Sledge, vicar of Romsey Abbey, about his experience of developing school worship.
