

South Wight Area Youth Partnership (SWAY) is launching a challenge for young people and friends of the charity. It is an opportunity to bring people together safely while restrictions are still in place.

SWAY have set a geocache course across the South Wight; the area that SWAY covers. From 9am Monday, 15th June teams of two to four have to find hidden keyrings using grid references and descriptions for the exact locations that have been given to them. Once found, they will need to submit a photo of themselves with each keyring as evidence of their success in finding it before the 9pm on Sunday, 21st June.

The idea is to get out and about to overcome any anxiety of the outside by exploring the countryside. It will also serve to bring all the participants together with a sense of community, providing the element of competition whilst also following social distancing recommendations.

Everyone will be able to keep up with progress through the week via our website and Facebook page. On Monday, 22nd June the team that has found the most, will be awarded a prize of Amazon vouchers at the Zoom closing ceremony. SWAY invites anybody to join in the fun.
