“Learning and Achieving Through Love, Courage and Respect.”

Our Vision Statement

We provide a collaborative and nurturing environment with a supportive Christian ethos where everyone is enabled to flourish and thrive in their own unique way.

Introduction

At Brighstone Primary School, it is our aim that every member of the school community feels valued and respected, and that each person is treated fairly and well. We are a caring community, whose values are built on mutual trust and respect for all. The school’s behaviour policy is, therefore, designed to support the way in which all members of the school can work together in a supportive way. It aims to promote an environment in which everyone feels happy, safe and secure.

The school has clear expectations, but our behaviour policy is not only concerned with rule enforcement. It is a means of promoting positive learning behaviours and relationships, so that people can work together with the common purpose of helping everyone to learn and become good citizens and positively contribute to society. This policy supports the school community in aiming to allow everyone to work together effectively.

We treat all children fairly and apply the principles of this behaviour policy in a consistent way whilst always considering a child's individual needs.

This policy aims to help children grow and learn in a safe and secure environment, and to become positive, responsible and increasingly independent members of the school community and beyond.

The school recognises and promotes positive behaviour, as it believes that this will develop an ethos of kindness and respect. This policy is designed to encourage positive behaviour, rather than merely deter misbehaviour.

Our aims

- To ensure that the principles of our behaviour policy are rooted in our core values of love, courage and respect.
- To apply the policy in a nurturing, safe environment, enabling effective teaching and learning to take place for all children.
- Reward positive behaviour fairly and in an equitable way.
- Ensure that pupils are supported to self-regulate, to think about how their behaviour affects others and learn from this.

Our core Christian values of Love, Courage and Respect are at the root of everything we do. Our school Golden Rules are framed around these values. Each class has a Class Charter that is written by the class based on the Golden Rules.

Our School Golden Rules are:

Love: Show love to yourself and others through kindness.

Courage: Have the courage to be honest and make the right choices and have a go.

Respect: Show respect for yourself, others and the world around you.

The Restorative Approach

At Brighstone CE Aided Primary, we use the Restorative Approach to help improve behaviour and build positive relationships. Seeing the impact of their poor choices enables children to put right the upset that they have caused and supports them to make better choices in the future.

The restorative approach helps children to:

- Resolve disagreements and repair relationships
- Understand how actions and words can make another person feel
- Find a fair and just way to get along
- Seek a way of stopping the same thing from happening again.

At Brighstone Primary School, we understand that time to calm down is sometimes needed before people are ready to talk. When that time comes, children are encouraged to engage in discussion and answer questions about what happened and how they can put it right.

Examples of Restorative Approach Questions

What happened?

- Each person shares their side of the story without interrupting each other.

What was happening at the time?

- Each person shares their thoughts without interrupting each other.

How were you feeling?

- Each person shares their feelings without interrupting each other.

Who has been affected by this and how?

- Talk about the other children or adults involved and how they might be feeling.

What do you think needs to happen to make things better?

- Each person shares what they think should happen and come to an agreement.

How are you feeling now?

- Each person shares their feelings without interrupting each other.

To ensure that those who have been making poor behavioural choices can be held accountable, they will be expected to take responsibility for their actions. The consequences, as outlined in this policy, will be followed. As part of our Christian ethos, we will encourage children to apologise for poor behavioural choices and we will also ask whether the wronged person is ready to forgive the person who has caused them upset.

In situations where it is deemed that both parties are responsible for poor behavioural choices, it is recognised that both will need to take responsibility for their actions.

Rewards

At Brighstone Primary School, we believe that children should make positive behaviour choices for intrinsic reasons, as they know that it is the right thing to do. However, we also promote and reinforce positive behaviour (including learning behaviours) in the following ways, while ensuring it is clear what the praise is for, linked to the values and learning behaviours:

- Verbal praise to individuals or whole class
- Physical gesture (e.g. smile, thumbs up, Read Write Inc signals) to individuals or whole class
- Sharing good work with other classes, other members of staff or the headteacher
- Headteacher's award for exceptional behaviour or work
- Reward system for whole class positive behaviour (e.g. marbles in a jar or linked to their class name)
- Golden Awards each Friday awarded for positive behaviours, positive learning behaviours or good work (teacher or LSA nominated) – these receive 5 points for their hive
- Sports Bee each Friday awarded for behaviour linked to the school games values (sports coach nominated) – this receives 30 points for their hive

- Bee of the week award each Friday for positive “bee-haviour” linked to the school values or the school games values (any member of staff nominated) – this receives 30 points for their hive
- Sports Day hive points

At the end of the year, the hive with the most points receives the shield.

School values: Love, courage and respect

School games values: Passion, belief, respect, honesty, determination and teamwork

Learning behaviours: Independence, collaboration, perseverance and resilience

It is recognised that some children may need further extrinsic motivation than others. This may be age-related, or because of specific learning or behavioural needs. As stated in The Equality Act, 2010: “Positive Action provisions allow schools to target measures that are designed to alleviate disadvantages experienced by, or to meet the particular needs of, pupils with particular protected characteristics. Such measures will need to be a proportionate way of achieving the relevant aim.”

Positive action is not the same as positive discrimination, which involves preferential treatment for a particular disadvantaged student group that does not meet the positive action conditions.

EYFS

It is recognised that young children starting school will need to be guided and supported through the development of their behavioural responses and self-regulation.

Behaviour management in the Early Years Foundation Stage begins with the EYFS Principles:

- The Unique Child - Every child is unique and their behavioural responses to situations will differ according to their previous experiences and outcomes.
- Positive Relationships – Strong, secure and positive relationships are formed, enabling adults to know the children and respond to their individual needs.
- Enabling Environment – Children are supported to feel safe and respected in a stable, nurturing environment.

This policy takes into account these EYFS principles.

Equity and Equality

Equity and equality are two strategies we can use in an effort to produce fairness. Equality is treating everyone the same. Equality aims to promote fairness, but it can only work if everyone starts from the same place and needs the same help. Equity is giving everyone what they need to be successful.

Consequences

In the classroom:

It is imperative that children are given the opportunity to make the right choices so the following processes are followed if they are finding this difficult:

1. As much as possible, staff members will use positive phrases in the first instance to acknowledge and highlighting those who are making the right choices; e.g.
 - a. An adult may use proximal praise, in which they praise a child near to the child who is making poor choices, to encourage that child to mimic the positive behaviour.
 - b. A staff member may say “I can see so many children focusing so well on their work”, or “Let me see who is listening carefully” to encourage the child/ren who needs a reminder to make the right choices.
2. A staff member will move nearer to the child and/or will use a non-verbal approach, such as: a look, a folding of arms, a BSL sign, touching the table or the removal of an item if it is causing a disruption.
3. A staff member will validate the child’s feelings, explain to the child that they appreciate they may be struggling and remind them of the core values. For example: “I understand that this work may be challenging; however, if we use our courage and perseverance, and the six Bs in the classroom, it can help you to understand it.”
4. If a child continues to make inappropriate choices in the classroom, they are given a choice from two options. For example: “You can choose to do your work now, or during your playtime.” They will need to give the wasted learning time back during the next break time. This should never be more than 10 minutes as we value the importance of fresh air and exercise for everyone’s wellbeing.
5. Occasionally, it may be necessary for a child to continue with their learning in another classroom, or with the headteacher, so that they can concentrate fully and engage with the learning.
6. For poor behaviour choices that do not reflect our school values, reflection time during playtime will be used.

On the playground:

During playtimes and lunchtimes, a team of staff carry out supervision of all children. The same guidelines for behaviour applies.

If a child behaves inappropriately, disregarding our Golden Rules, then:

1. A verbal reminder will be issued by the member of staff.
2. If a second reminder is needed but not heeded, this will result in a five minute 'reflection time' period to calm down; this may be outside on a bench or inside on the chairs outside the headteacher's office. The restorative approach may be used here to discuss their actions.
3. Continued misbehaviour, or a more serious misdemeanor, will result in the child being asked to speak with the Behaviour Lead or the headteacher and they will need to explain their poor behaviour choices. The restorative approach will be taken.

All incidents will be recorded on MyConcern, which is a secure online platform that the school uses to record any safeguarding and behaviour concerns. Parents will be informed if inappropriate behaviour is demonstrated regularly and an improvement is not seen.

Serious misbehaviour

At Brighstone CE Aided Primary School, we do not tolerate the following behaviour choices:

- Deliberately using unkind hands, feet or words to harm others
- Inappropriate language/swearing
- Being disrespectful to adults
- Refusing to work
- Not listening to instructions that could put them or others at risk
- Deliberately damaging school property or equipment
- Bullying (physical, verbal or online)
- Child-on-child abuse as defined by KCSiE 2023
- Any deliberate incidents of discrimination against any of the nine protected characteristics
- Sexual violence, abuse and harassment

If a child deliberately uses any of the above actions, the following procedures will be carried out:

- The child is sent to the Behaviour Lead or headteacher for investigation and spoken with using the restorative approach
- Clear consequences will be discussed and implemented
- Parents will be informed of the incident and of any consequences put in place
- In some cases, the police or Children's Services may need to be involved

If the problem is severe or recurring, then temporary or permanent exclusion procedures are implemented in line with Local Authority procedures (see Exclusion policy).

Parents have the right of appeal to the Governing Body against any decision to exclude.

All incidents will be recorded on MyConcern.

Staff

All staff recognise that behaviour is a form of communication. We apply the principles of this policy consistently and fairly whilst taking everything into account and tailoring our approach appropriately; e.g. the child, the situation, the environment, and any additional needs.

Staff model positive behaviour choices by showing respect for everyone. This is modelled through actions and words, including how we treat others and how we own up to our own errors. We carefully consider the language we use and we don't label children, just the behaviour. For example, children are not naughty; they are making a poor choice.

Staff are enabled to deal with incidents whenever they occur; however, it is recognised that sometimes emotions run high and therefore staff are encouraged to stand back, reflect and identify when they may need further support and advice, including delegation.

Parents and carers

A strong relationship with parents/carers is key to developing and maintaining our high standards of behaviour. All parents and carers are asked to read the home-school expectations document every year.

Other ways parents can help include:

- Recognise the need for a good partnership with school and engaging in a two-way conversation with their child's class teacher
- Reinforce the school's values and learning behaviours with your child
- Discuss the Golden Rules with their child and reinforce where possible
- Attend Parental Consultations
- Understand that effective learning cannot occur without good behaviour, and supporting this

Alternative strategies

Our school behaviour policy works for the vast majority of our children; however, we must always acknowledge that all behaviour is a form of communication and, whilst bearing in mind our school values, we recognise that some children may need some reasonable adjustments for them.

Therefore, it may occasionally be necessary to help children further with regulating their own behaviour. On these occasions, we may use the following:

- Emotion Coaching to help the child identify what they are finding difficult and to help them find ways forwards
- Individual Behaviour Plan where actions will be agreed and followed by the child, parents and teacher
- ELSA intervention to help the child to regulate their emotions

- Bespoke pastoral support for the child and family
- Early Help for the family
- Involving other agencies, such as Barnardo's, Youth Trust, CAMHS, MHSTs, Virtual School, police

It is important to us here at Brighstone that poor behavioural choices are noted through these procedures and consequences; however, we believe that, in an ethos of love and courage and respect, each child will have 'clean slate' and a fresh start after the poor behaviour choices have been addressed. However, this does not negate the need to learn from behaviours.

Intervention

If a child attacks another child or adult violently and refuses to calm down, then appropriate physical restraint is necessary. The legal provisions (the DfE guidance 'Use of Reasonable Force', copies of which are available from the school office or from DfE website) provide members of staff with the power to use reasonable force to prevent pupils committing an offence, injuring themselves or others, or damaging property and to maintain good order and discipline in the classroom. If a member of staff requires further support, then they are asked to immediately contact the Behaviour Lead or the headteacher.

The child will be taken to the Behaviour Lead or the headteacher, who will contact the child's parents.

An account will be recorded on MyConcern and the situation discussed with the Behaviour Lead and headteacher, who will work with the member of staff and parents to devise an action plan to meet that child's and the school's needs. This might include the involvement of other agencies – Social Services, Hampshire Educational Psychology Service, Pupil Referral Service, etc.

Pupils' conduct outside of school

When undertaking a school visit during school hours, or when carrying out online activities during or outside of school hours, our Behaviour Policy will be applied. When pupils are travelling to and from school the same high standards of behaviour are expected. The sanctions outlined in this policy will apply in all cases.

Screening, searching and confiscation

The headteacher, and staff authorised by them, have a statutory power to search pupils or their possessions without consent where they suspect the pupil has certain prohibited items. Staff can confiscate any item that they consider harmful or detrimental to school discipline.

Supporting policies and guidance

Please refer to the following policies to be considered in conjunction with this policy:
